Pamela Luttrell selects her wedding date

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Luttrell of Schulte Road, Carmel Valley announced the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Christine Luttrell to Mrs. Rudolph Lynn Herzog, at their home on January 18.

The bride-to-be, who will graduate from Carmel High School in June, has chosen June 21 as her wedding date.

She is the sister of Tom and Gary Luttrell of Fresno, Mrs. Robert Vaughn, Pacific Grove, and Ellen, Penny and Rachel Luttrell of Carmel Valley.

Mr. Herzog is a graduate of Pacific Grove High School. He is the son of Mrs. Margaret

A JUNE WEDDING DATE HAS BEEN SET for Pamela Christine Luttrell and Rudolph Lynn Herzog, whose engagement was recently announced at the home of the bride's parents on Schulte Road.

Herzog, and the brother of Rod, Jonna, Ed, and Tom Herzog of Pacific Grove, and Mrs. Robert Gritzmacher of Seaside.

Theatre owners plan new theatre

New theatre facilities will be added to Carmel Valley, it was learned, with the announcement of plans for the construction of an indoor twin theatre at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

When the construction will begin has not yet been determined. The theatre will feature road shows and first-run attractions and all seats will be of the rocking chair theatre loge type.

The announcement of the new Valley addition came from the Kindair Corp. and Carmel Rancho officials. Kindair's principals, Kirk Erskine and Bruce Matson, operate the Steinbeck Theatre, Cinema 70 at Del Monte Center and the Valley Theatre in Carmel Valley.

According to Harry Bell, spokesman for Carmel Rancho, Inc., the separate theatres will include one large and one small screen, with a single projection booth serving both. The architects are designing the theatre to accomodate meetings and special community events, he said.

Drama class visits

Sunset Center

The drama class of the Carmel Middle School paid a backstage visit to Sunset Auditorium recently when they were conducted to the light loft and around the backstage area by Center manager Cole Weston.

Mr. Weston who is an experienced hand in dramatic acting, staging, directing, gave first-hand pointers to the class who was accompanied by teacher Mrs. Delores Dresser.

Luncheon setting for anniversary

Champagne, flowers and a bountiful buffet luncheon marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Vye of Carmel, when they were entertained in Carmel Valley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dowdakin hosted the affair at their home on Country Club Drive with invited members including only closest friends who had attended the Vye's 25th anniversary.

Residents of Carmel and the Valley since 1926, Helene Vye of France, and George Vye of Britain met in Paris to begin an "entente cordiale" that has continued ever since.

Youth Science Center

Plans benefit picnic

Plans are underway for an old-fashioned family picnic to be held May 25 for the benefit of the Youth Science Center of Monterey County.

The organization, located on River Road, Salinas, is a non-profit organization whose facilities are available to the school children of the county. It offers a week's loan of its animals and teaches the care of pets. All night camping trips which have been made to Death Valley and the Sierras, are among the activities offered. A number of wild animals and birds are there for students to visit.

The Center was originally started by the Junior League and the Jaycettes.

Candidates to appear at Middle School

The six candidates for the Carmel Unified School District board of education will each give a short presentation before the Parent Faculty club meeting at the Carmel Middle School library at 8 p.m.

The program will be moderated by Joe Ricupero with a question and answer period following the candidate's speeches.

The office seekers include Rev. James W. Brock, James Miller, Reginald Dewar, and Mesdames Barbara Sanford, Andrea Gill and Ruth Morrice.

The meeting is open to the public.

All nations theme features Sunday worship service

St. Philip's Lutheran Church, Carmel Valley, will observe a World Missions Sunday, with an all nations theme carried into the Morning Worship Service at 10 a.m. and a pot-luck family dinner at noon.

A Prayer Vigil held on Thursday will also observe this theme.

Flags from all nations will deck the Sanctuary for the Service and Pastor Bretheim will speak on "Making Disciples of All Nations." A guest children's choir from the Lutheran Church of The Good Shepherd in Salinas will provide special music.

The pot-luck dinner under the direction of Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Bill Tribble will feature food from all nations.

A display of World Missions of the American Lutheran Church will tell of this part of work of the Church. The ALC has 700 missionaries in 12 world missions fields. A former resident of Carmel Valley, Dr. John Cronli, and for many years a world missionary and missions teacher, will be honored by a memorial.

St. Philip's Lutheran Church is located on the Carmel Valley Road between Schulte and Meadows Roads. An invitation is hereby extended to the residents of the area to this World Mission festivity.

EDITORIAL

Schools can be better

Education, at all levels, is coming in for a lot of criticism these days.

In fact, a lot of the disruption on college campuses, and even on high school campuses in some larger cities such as San Francisco and Los Angeles, is directly due to the belief that educational standards, and techniques are far behind the times.

The truth is of course that all of us are living in an age of rapid, and unbelievable change.

In a sense, a revolution.

Whether or not colleges, high schools and elementary schools are keeping up with an evolutionary society is a matter of opinion.

Let it be said that the controls that now exist at the administrative level, and the policy makers on school boards and school trustees, are not designed to allow for quick changes.

This is not bad. In fact, it guarantees stability, which has much to say for itself.

Nevertheless education has to reflect the needs of the society as a whole. If it doesn't, it will hold back the development of this or any other society, and very often wind up preparing young people for fields that don't exist, or, even worse, provide no trained people for newly developing fields.

One area where most all public schools have and are moving ponderously if at all is in the field of vocational education. The presumption that schools should just prepare young people for college and some profession is unrealistic and dangerously unfair.

Carmel schools though are making important breakthroughs, and with the support of the community, no doubt will make many more.

For example the Tularcitos Kindergarten represents an effort to introduce children to the school environment in new terms — both in the classroom and on the playground.

We congratulate the administrators and trustees for this attempt to do the job of instructing at this critical level in each child's life, better.

There are many other modern techniques that the Carmel schools are undertaking. Many have been reported in the Outlook; many more will be.

We can't change the way other schools are operated, to make them better; but we can and should support our local schools when those responsible for them have the courage to try to do the best job possible, in light of the needs of a fast-moving age.

PERSPECTIVE

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I discussed, with Mrs. Corenns Smith, most amiably, her replacement on the Upper Valley Advisory Board, asking her permission and stating her qualifications suggested an appointment to the Lower Board when a vacancy occurs.

The CVPOA has suggested that replacements be made periodically. There is no suggestion of political pressure.

The statement that appeared in a previous issue was in error. I stated my feelings that Mrs. Smith is more oriented to the Lower Valley, relating to planning. I did not say that she had asked to be relieved.

Cordially,
Edward P. Marcucci, DDS

Dear Sir:

Alexander G. Weygers (Letters, March 5) has, I think, insulted we "river-bottom mistake-makers" no end. As a hill-dweller, perhaps Alexander looks only to heaven, but if he will come down to earth, he just might discover that a sometimes mad river CAN be calmed with a flood-control dam. Admittedly, another water company dam would suck the river ever dryer and should be fought strenuously, but a dam holding a sizeable reservoir from which water was continuously released during the summer would keep water flowing WHICH WOULD KEEP RIVER TREES LIVING to hold the banks. Alexander would even find a more splendid view, then, of the Valley below from his dwelling on the hill: green trees and a sparkling river.

DEAD trees caused most of the damage for they toppled, clogged and diverted the river. Were Alexander to look down from his heaven once more, he might observe that the entire floor of the Valley has been built up by the river (it used to be a bay of the ocean). Where would he have us move? A spot away from the river can suddenly find itself on — or even under — the river!

Alexander Weygers doesn't want us living on the floor of the Valley and the conservationists (strangely silent about an ugly dry "river" in the summer) don't want HIM living on the hills. Maybe we should all evacuate and turn the whole damn thing back to nature.

Very truly yours,
Jack Darch
Rt. 2, Box 830, Carmel

Dear Editor:

"Church — do we want it?"

It seems true these days that there is much to be desired in each religion to adapt it to the need of NOW.

Many folks feel, as I did — that if you live an honest life and pray in your own way, you don't need the "Church". I'd like to express my reasons why we do not need "the establishment".

1.) "No man can live unto himself alone" — not possible. I tried to represent myself in court — alone. It was a joke. One individual's voice is not even heard. There is strength in numbers led by a qualified leader — try God.

2.) If you have a gripe concerning the judicial or political system instead of complaining join a group whose belief is truth and peace and love — try the Church.

3.) If we are to belong to a Country and Society of which we desire to be proud, we must contribute. Money is not the first and foremost contribution — it is the individual. If we don't give of ourselves — just a little more and we live only for personal gain, we are helping causes that demoralize our country — and our youth.

4.) There is no real escape from deep problems into marijuana or martini. But those problems with God's help are not too big to face and beat.

So — "Let There Be Peace on Earth and Let it Begin with Me" (and you — not in animal like riots but at Church) for an hour of meditation.

If there are any persons who do not drive, but need transportation, I'm sure they could call any of the local Pastors listed in the Carmel Valley Directory for their choice of Church.

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel — non-denominational services are now held at 10:00 a.m. Older persons needing transportation (any person) might call 659-2071 before 9:30 a.m. or after 5 p.m. and I will try to arrange for their transportation to and from Church.

Thanks,
Evelyn Rhoades
65 Upper Circle

Dear Sir:

The sun is streaming through my windows. My acacia tree is pure gold. All Carmel Valley is about to burst into its nearly incredible springtime beauty. How lucky we are to be able to live here.

But I can't help thinking of last spring and summer when driving the Carmel Valley Road was an agony, when I prayed I wouldn't see a deer being struck down by a careless driver. Once I counted four fawns dead along the road, their tiny spotted bodies, dusty and bloody, their legs thrust out in the stiff grotesquerie of violent death. Carmel Valley was not beautiful then.

Obviously the signs at each end of the Valley are inadequate. Why could we not post several signs at regular intervals the length of the Valley, in both directions, with a picture of a doe and fawn, and the words, "Watch for deer"?

THAT "LADY in a Volkswagen" was out again Sunday night doggedly beating her way against traffic in the ONE WAY area near Miramonte on Carmel Valley Road.

A NEW IDEA in parental control might be worth looking into. A course soon to be started in Parent Effectiveness Training (P.E.T.) is "a new approach to discipline, an alternative to strictness or lenience."

This new method involves setting rules and resolving conflicts in the home by mutual problem solving. Details will be given by writing or phoning Mrs. Aurzella Bui, 14 Work

THE DESERT TORTOISE is a resident of dry, sandy areas. In winter it hibernates in burrows with others of its kind. In warmer weather, it digs a smaller, "private" burrow to serve as a retreat from the hot desert sun. Many fascinating wild animals are featured in Kent Durden's Audubon Wildlife film, "Death Valley - Land of Contrast".

Audubon film on Death Valley

"Death Valley - Land of Contrast" is the last of this year's series of Audubon Wildlife films to be presented at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium, 835 Forest Avenue in Pacific Grove. The film will be personally narrated by its creator, Kent Durden.

Death Valley at 282 feet below sea level is the lowest spot in the United States. It is also one of the hottest with ground temperatures often reaching 180° degrees. While this may be a harsh environment, it is far from void of life.

Many of the mammals of this desert region manufacture their own water, and others have learned to go long periods on very small amounts of moisture. The desert makes quick response to rainfall with an array of beautiful flowers. Near permanent waterholes even orchids can be found.

Durden has spent months photographing the different habits within the Death Valley National Monument. Among the animals to be seen in the film are the ring-tailed cat and the desert bighorn sheep along with 40 species of birds.

The Audubon Film Series is sponsored by the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. Admission is $1.25 for adults, 50 cents for students and active military.

Trail and Saddle Club to have show next week

A spring horse show will be held by the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club Sunday, March 23, when they will offer a variety of English, Western and gymkhana events at the club grounds on East Garzas road.

The junior class in Western showmanship will begin the competition at 8:30 a.m. and will be followed with classes in bareback equitation, trail horse, stock horse and Western pleasure. A group of six gymkhana events has been planned for the noon hour, and will include stake races, barrel races and pole bending.

In the afternoon, English classes for both the junior and adult rider will include nine events offered with classes in equitation, pleasure, hunter-hack and two classes each of working hunters and jumpers.

WINNERS

Prizes will be given to first place winner and ribbons awarded through fifth place.

A high point trophy for each of the three divisions will be awarded.

The Western division will be judged by Peter Pedrazzi, Salinas. Ronald Stolic, also of Salinas, will judge the English division. Calif. State Horseman's Association has approved this show as part of the Region 6 Championship Series.

Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Chappel of Carmel Valley, have contributed a special trophy to be awarded to the horse owned and shown by a member of the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club or the Carmel Valley Horseman's Association. The winning horse will have earned the highest total score in either English pleasure, Western pleasure or trail classes during the current show season.

Carnival features spaghetti dinner

Plans are simmering for the annual spaghetti dinner to be served at the Tularcitos School Carnival on March 22.

With only slight variations in the menu the co-chairmen, Mmes. William Brodrick and Gordon Harlander promise dinner with larger servings of spaghetti topped with Italian style sauce and cheese. Accompanying the spaghetti will be a freshly tossed salad, hot buttered French bread and coffee or milk. For those who wish a dessert, home-made walnut filled brownies will be on sale.

The dinner will be served from 4:30 to 6:30 in the multipurpose room of Tularcitos school. Price of the dinner is $1.00 for adults and $.50 for children through 6th grade. Tickets may be purchased ahead through the school or at the door.

Working with Mmes Brodrick and Harlander are Lou's Casa Carmelo who will assist with the salad, and Mr. Sal Verde who will bring the French bread fresh from San Francisco. Husbands of the co-chairmen have volunteered to handle the dishwashing.

The mothers who will be busy cooking, serving and cleaning up are: Ruth Pryor, Lavonne Kerns, Nancy Marzi, Jeanine Bottaro, Carol Lorenz, Joan Morris, Marion Gray, Florence Johnson, Harriet Busick, Carol Winslow, Rae Black, MaryThystrup, Judy Gayman, Doreen McKenzie, Audrey Wolf, Shirley Garner, Dorothy Palmer, Louise Neidinger, Rose Glasenapp, Donna Funez, Pat Farrell, Mitko Nedeft, and Wanda Slangerup.

THE DOWN PLAYERS will participate in the Tularcitos Carnival, March 22 at the school when a whirl of entertainment is promised beginning at noon, with an afternoon of races, pet shows, cake walk, puppet show, a space tunnel, and a train ride. The dramatic group above is composed of a group of fifth and sixth grade students chosen for their dramatic ability and work under the direction of Miss Sioux Scott and Jerry Winters. They are shown left to right, standing, Bobby McCluskey, Victoria Ushacoff, John Triguero; seated, Jackie Denny, Jeff Brewer, and Vickie Colvin. Their presentation begins at 1:30 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the school.

'Everybody Loves Opal' next at Studio Theatre

The John Patrick comedy, "Everybody Loves Opal" will open March 21 at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel for a run of seven weekends.

The title character, an eccentric female junk collector, maintains undaunted faith in the good intentions of the human race, even when severely tested by Gloria, Brad and Sol, a trio of petty con artists whom she invites to live with her. They repay her kindness by plotting a series of farcical schemes to do away with her for her insurance money.

Opal, whose charmed life survives each bungled attempt, refuses to have her eyes opened to her would-be assassins who one by one succumb to her persistent good nature.

Patrick, who wrote "The Hasty Heart" and "The Curious Savage," as well as adapting "The Teahouse of the August Moon" for the stage, knows how to concoct these ingredients into a plot that combines suspense with uproarious laughter.

Eileen Heckart and Stubby Kaye starred in the original Broadway production which was directed by Cyril Ritchard. The comedy has scored wide success in summer stock and community theatre since then. An earlier production was well-received at the Studio five years ago.

"Everybody Loves Opal" is under the direction of Dave Kirk. Reservations for Friday, Saturday and Sunday performances may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Messiah to be given

The fourth annual production of "The Messiah" by George Fredrick Handel will be presented on Sunday, March 30 at 3 p.m. in King Hall at the Naval Postgraduate School. There will be one performance only.

The Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra and The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society will combine under the direction of Professor of Music, Haymo Taeuber

Soloists to be featured are soprano, Norma Jean Hodges; alto, Glenna DeWeese; tenor, Orva Hoskinson; and baritone, Aarvin Klebe.

The event is sponsored annually by the Protestant Women's Chapel Guild at the Postgraduate School.

Rushed to hospital

Joseph B. Harlow, 66 Rancho Road, was taken to Community hospital last Friday as a medical emergency by Red Cross Ambulance manned by the Carmel Valley Volunteer Firemen.

Wine and Roses Ball draws crowd

An unusually large attendance contributed to the success of the Wine and Roses Ball sponsored by the Carmel Valley

Lions Club at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club Saturday night.

Out of town members attending including District Governor Dr. Milton J. Miller, International Councillors Jim Lund, Herb Cunningham, Linney Bee and Louis Mammini.

Featured at the annual fund-raising affair was the 15-foot bottle filled with assimilated wine suspended from the ceiling, and the 10 foot champagne glass into which the bubbling vintage was poured.

A huge ball covered with roses was suspended from the chandelier over the orchestra.

Local merchants and restaurateurs in the area contributed prizes that were given out during the evening. A grand prize of two round-trip tickets to Las Vegas was won by a Pacific Grove resident.

A FARCE COMEDY
BY J. B. PRIESTLEY

DIRECTED BY CHARLES THOMAS

A WELL ADJUSTED FEMALE — a long hair, tiger cat vibrating with happy purrs is looking for a home. This cuddly and loving cat now boards at the SPCA center on the Monterey-Salinas Highway opposite the Laguna Seca raceway. Open from 10 to 5, except Thursday and Sunday, it may be reached by phoning 373-2631. (Photo courtesy of Louis & Virginia Kay)

Expect delays in fixing all local roads

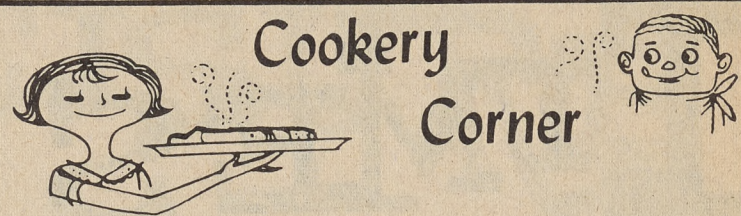

SALINAS (CNA) — Thirty-two roads in the county are closed because of recent heavy rains, one-way traffic is permitted on 12 more roads, and six additional roads have suffered lesser damage, it was reported to the Board of Supervisors by Bruce W. McClain, head of the county road department.

The greatest damage was done in the 3rd District.

The next worst toll, mostly in the Carmel Valley, was in Supervisor Willard T. Branson's 5th District, where seven roads were hard hit. The damage to Carmel Valley road was the most severe in the area.

McClain estimated that it would take between $800,000 and $1,200,000 to repair the ravages of the storms. He added that he did not know when the county road system could be returned to normal. A new study of what the county's needs will be is going forward in cooperation with the Army Corps of Engineers.

In the Carmel Valley, Carmel Valley Road has been damaged east of Joan Baez School and west of Wagon Wheel and Robinson Canyon road is damaged at three places, including a section at the Carmel River bridge. Palo Colorado road is impassable in wet weather over its last four miles. The Tassajara road is recommended only for four-wheel vehicles and Southbank road is washed out from Hitchcock to the fire trail.

AN OLD RECIPE FOR KEEPING TEARS OUT OF YOUR EYES
By Mrs. B.C. Forrester

When pickling onions is the housewife's employment, the following may prove a useful hint to prevent the eyes from filling with tears.

Put a large needle in your mouth, half in and half out. The needle attracts the oily juice of the bulb, and any number may be peeled with impunity.

Footnote: To servants, this information is invaluable.

Editor's footnote today: "What servants?"

AND IF YOU ARE KEEN ON EXPERIMENTAL COOKING TRY THIS:

JUMBLES

1-1/4 pound of flour	3/4 pound of butter
3/4 pound loaf of sugar, pounded	Some grated lemon peel
Yolk of three eggs with 1 egg white	If not sufficiently moist add a little brandy.

Mix these ingredients well together, drop on tin, or roll into any shape.

2 ounces of sweet almonds beaten with mixture, or a few currants are a great improvement.

To strengthen and improve the voice: Under this heading Mrs. Forrester provided a helpful hint some of today's YELLERS might adopt to their own profit and our peace:

Practice 2 or 3 times a day, but at first not longer than 10 minutes at a time, and let one of these times be before breakfast. Exercise the extrenity of the voice, but do not dwell on those notes you touch with difficulty.

Open the mouth at all times in the higher notes especially; open it to the ears as if smiling. This prevents a nasal tone. Take nothing to clear the voice but a glass of cold water, and always avoid pastry, rich cream, coffee and cake, when you intend to sing.

AMERICA IN 1858 COOKED AND LIVED LIKE THIS

They cured their own beef — To one hundred pounds of beef must be allowed six (6) gallons of water, nine pounds of salt, three(3) pounds of brown sugar, one (1) quart of molasses, three (3) ounces of salt petre, 1 ounce of pearlash*, 3¢ worth of co-chineal. The beef must remain in this pickle for the space of three weeks.

*This was the former name for potash, purified and reduced to a white solid.

A dye stuff made from dried bodies of female insects producing a red color.

THEY DRANK RACCO HOO. A beverage to be used in the same way as tea, or coffee. Mix together:

1 pound of grated chocolate	1 pound pulverized sugar
1 pound rice flour	4 tablespoonsful arrowroot

When used boil one pint of milk, and then add 3 tablespoonsful of the above with a little water.

Ingredients for Racco Hoo were usually obtainable in places where tea and coffee could not be obtained.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of the Oleander Garden Shop

Bees use the sun to guide them back and forth to their hive just as the captain of a ship uses the sun and stars to guide him in the sea.

That is why you do not see bees on a cloudy day. On sunny days they go freely from one garden to another.

We are aware more and more of the importance of bees as an aid to pollination; no pollination, no fruits. Some fruit trees are self-sterile and they need another variety close by. But suppose you want to have a cherry tree and only have room for one. You might be able to get together with your neighbor; you could plant a Bing variety and he would plant a Van variety close to yours.

Both of you will have cherries, thanks to the bees and the spirit of cooperation.

Rabbits sometimes are a problem in the garden.

A rabbit can eat the bark of a tree-trunk near the ground and girdle it. Girdling means the end of the tree, unless bridge grafting is done in a hurry to save it.

To avoid such damage protect the trunk with an 18" - 24" wire cylinder, braced with stakes. This keeps the rabbits from gnawing the bark.

A fence 2 feet high around your vegetable garden or flower beds will keep them out. Of course, Jack Rabbit might jump this fence if pursued.

Water drained from a new redwood planter is usually stained a rusty color, which will mar and stain your patio if it is of concrete or other material.

In order to avoid this, place the tub in a saucer, or place the tub in your garden until this stained water ceases and then bring it to the patio. Saucers are also recommended for red clay pots. New soil enriched with organic matter also gives out stained water.

BENDING BRANCHES

On an ornamental tree, you can bend a branch which is not well located and keep it bent by the help of a weight or a rope and stake. The branch, when released, will have a different position.

To induce fruiting, bend a branch so its tip is below the horizontal plane of the branch. Bending is a hormonal reaction which induces fruit bearing.

Another device to encourage fruiting is to make a ring with a sharp knife all around the trunk and another about 1/4 inch below the first. Then remove this 1/4 inch strip of bark.

Be careful not to damage the cambium tissue (the green part under the bark). Use adhesive tape to cover this wound.

A less drastic and safer method is to remove bark as above only half-way around the trunk and then a similar strip 1 inch or 2 inches below it, from the opposite half of the trunk. The wounds should be taped.

The third method is just a simple ring with your knife around the trunk only once.

Before resorting to any three of the above operations, check and see if your tree needs a pollinizer. In that case, you have only to plant the required variety.

If for instance, your cherry tree is a Bing, then it needs a Van or Black Tartarian to be planted within 20 feet of it. The time for the bark ringing operation is 2 to 3 weeks after blooming.

INDUCING GROWTH

To induce vegetative growth, cut a notch above a bud. This decreases the movement of sap to parts above the bud, so it will get more nourishment and start to grow.

A transplanted plant is in a critical condition. The longer the delay, the more critical is its situation. The time of year has a great deal to do with success or failure.

Now is a good time to transplant the shrub which someone planted in the wrong place. Always prune it before digging. Dig a good large hole in the new place to accommodate the roots with no congestion. Place the upper 6-inch layer of soil to one side of the hole and the rest on the other side; the first pile is better soil.

Now mix with this some leaf mold or peat moss. Dig out the shrub with as much roots as possible. It is a good idea to water in the new plant with a vitamin B-1 hormone.

In Carmel Valley, there is a garden club whose members are dedicated gardeners. The membership fee is $2.00 for a full year. It meets every month on the second Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Tularcitos School.

Come and exchange ideas about gardening; you are welcome as our guest at any time.

5 nominated for hospital board

Five Monterey Peninsula residents have been nominated for 3-year terms on the Board of Trustees of Community Hospital.

Nominated as new members of the board by a committee chaired by Col. Allen Griffin are Charles Chayne of Pebble Beach and James Murray of Monterey. They have been named to succeed J.O. Handley and Loren Smith, who have served two consecutive 3-year terms and are ineligible for re-election at this time.

Nominated for their second terms on the board are Mrs. John M. Marble of Carmel Valley, J. Arch Butts of Monterey and Arthur C. Stewart of Pebble Beach.

The election will take place at the annual meeting of the members of the hospital to be held 4 p.m., March 26 in the conference room of the hospital. At that time, further nominations may be made from the floor.

Other members of Col. Griffin's nominating committee were George O. Carlson and Robert O. McMahan.

Following the annual election of officers, the board will hold its organizational meeting at which it will elect its officers.

Valley campaigner sets out

ON THE MARCH FOR RED CROSS, Mrs. Joan Dickey sets out on Laurel Drive to make her house-to-house campaign with her two sons Steve, left, and Kevin. Among the many services the organization offers is the training in First Aid to the ambulance volunteers which has been a great asset in the Valley with the Red Cross ambulance available to residents in time of need. Water safety instruction and the blood program are two other programs that touch upon the needs of this area.

CV Planning Board okays designs and Variance

A design approval for a dance studio for Patricia Westor on Delfino Place was approved by the Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Board at its meeting Friday morning.

Community Chapel holds Lenten Bible services

A Lenten Bible Study will be conducted by Rev. Donald B. Johnson at the Community Chapel in a series of three Thursday evening meetings beginning tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the church at Paso Honda and Village Drive.

The series entitled "In the Shadow of Jesus", will center around events in the life of Jesus leading up to Passion Week. The Lenten meetings will culminate on Maundy Thursday, April 3 with Communion Services. Good Friday Services will be held on April 4.

An approval for a Variance by H. Ocker was given for the reduction on front yard set back in order to build a green house on Paso Cresta.

The division of 130.67 acres into three pan handle lots in Los Tularcitos Rancho by Nancy Bletcher was also approved. Application by Irene Baldwin for design approval in the construction of a residential unit in C-1 zone was also approved.

Seek flashing warning light near bad curve

A request has been sent to the County Road Department that a flashing warning light be installed on Carmel Valley Road near Country Club Drive.

The Road at this point is posted only for 25 mph speed limit, the only warning that a dangerous curve is just ahead. The curve, located about a mile west of Carmel Valley Village, has been the scene of many fatal accidents on the curve already this year.

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce initiated the request, joined by other civic groups, that some kind of warning be located there, according to Skip Marquard, who made the announcement at last Thursday's monthly chamber meeting.

51 PAID MEMBERS

Marquard presided at the meeting in the absence of Bob Kvenild, president, who was on a vacation trip to Mexico.

He told the gathering of 20 business people at the House of Koon Restaurant that the chamber had sent copies of a resolution opposing offshore drilling in Monterey County to the three state and national representatives of this area.

A reply from State Senator Grunsky said he was glad to have the resolution, which supports his views on the problem. He has sponsored legislation that would prohibit offshore drilling in Central California.

The group heard that 51 members have joined the organization so far this year -- 8 of them new ones.

During the past month the chamber had income of $1075 and expenses of $238.25, leaving a current balance on hand of $1187.44.

CARMEL VALLEY PRIORITIES

Dr. Ed Marcucci reported that Carmel Valley Road is currently 15th on the priority list for improvement by the County Planning Commission.

It may move up in view of the damage done to it during the winter rainstorms.

He added that a revision of the Carmel Valley Master Plan currently is not on the priority list. The changes that are being considered are largely updating only. He also said that Supervisor Willard T. Branson is reviewing the Master Plan and has taken no position on it, and will do so only after a complete study.

ADVERTISING PLANS

Marquard said that the chamber's advertising committee is recommending that the chamber spend $2,000 this year in promoting Carmel Valley as follows:

$500 for outside newspaper advertising.

$300 to help pay for reprinting 25,000 copies of an article on Carmel Valley in the January issue of San Francisco Magazine. The balance of the $1,000 cost would be paid by local resort businesses.

$300 for annual Christmas promotion.

$300 for printing of brochures to be used in the future when needed.

$600 for direct-mail promotion, details to be worked out. A color postcard was among the ideas considered.

$240 FOR CENTER

The chamber voted to give $240 to the Carmel Valley Community Center to help carry out its year-round program of activities.

Ordinarily the chamber gives the Center $120 each year, but did not do so last year.

A PIANO CONCERT will be presented Friday, March 21 by the Carmel Music Society when Raymond Lewenthal will present a program at Sunset Auditorium.

Artist to give piano concert

Pianistic fireworks are to be expected in Raymond Lewenthal's forthcoming concert at Sunset Auditorium, Friday, March 21 at 8 p.m. in a fourth of a series of five concerts presented this season.

The American-born musician has been doing his own thing in the world of music today, but bringing back neglected works of yesteryear's great musicians particularly those of Franz Liszt. He has been described as a throwback to a wilder day of piano playing, a day when virtuosity was its own excuse for being and did not evoke apology.

Tickets are available at the Carmel Music Society's box office at Friar Tuck Book Store, Mission near 6th in Carmel (624-2085).

Home Show planned for May

PLANNING "A BOUQUET OF INTERIORS" brought a spring-time mood to a recent rainy day meeting, when committee members of the Children's Home Society lunched at the Beach Club. Twenty-three interior designers and home furnishings firms will exhibit May 15-18 at the Home Show to be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Participating in organizing the event are, left to right, Mrs. Robert Zampatti, Carmel Valley; Mrs. Richard G. Murray, general chairman, and Dee (Mrs. Robert B.) Robertson, in her own right an interior designer, who is planning on exhibit.

Harlander named Schilling director of manufacturing

The Schilling Division of McCormick & Co., Inc., has named Gordon L. Harlander of Carmel Valley to the position of director of manufacturing, according to Harry K. Wells, corporate vice president and general manager. Harlander will also serve on the Schilling board of directors.

An engineering graduate of the General Motors Institute, Harlander held several supervisory positions with General Motors in Oakland prior to joining McCormick in 1959. First serving as plant engineer, Harlander later became plant manager in 1963 and held that position until his recent appointment. He has been based at the Division's Salinas Plant since it opened in early 1967.

Active in community affairs, Harlander is currently president of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center. He and his wife and two children reside in Carmel Valley.

Write-in candidates have until April 15

Potential write-in candidates for the April 15 school board elections must file a declaration of their intent prior to April 10.

Changes in the election laws applicable this year require such a declaration.

Forms for declaring write-in candidacy may be obtained from and filed with the Elections Department in the Monterey County Court House.

Write-in votes will not be counted for persons who have not filed a declaration.

HOPE AND FEAR OF Today's youth was the subject of the speakers contest sponsored by the Carmel Valley Lion's Club last week. Mr. Peter Glod, chairman of the event, is shown with students Rick Johnson of Costa Rica, and Peter Kaiser, England, both contestants in the contest which has no loser.

AROUND THE WORLD

When former Los Ranchitos residents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Starr, now of Saratoga, decided to take a trip around the world, they persuaded former La Rancheria residents Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ollason, now of Pacific Grove, to join them.

The foursome sailed on the S.S. President Roosevelt from San Francisco on October 25 and returned on January 20. Luella, who is one of the most dedicated workers in numerous Valley organizations, has been welcomed home with open arms.

We asked the Ollasons to describe for us some of their most interesting experiences and are indebted to them for this fascinating Travelogue.

"We sailed away from the beautiful and impressive San Francisco skyline, passing under the Bay Bridge and Golden Gate Bridge on one of those rare, sunny autumn days.

Our first port of call was HONOLULU, and of course, the beautiful Diamond Head heralded our arrival. It is sad to contemplate that at the present rate of "progress?" this inspiring view may soon be obliterated by high-rise buildings that "fence" the beaches.

Out of YOKOHAMA, JAPAN, we toured overland and met the ship at KOBE. We had anticipated the modern Western influence on Japan, but realized it to a surprising extent: High rise buildings, freeways, traffic snarls, 12 mile per hour trains.

A remark to our guide to the effect that they had made surprising progress brought the reply, "Ah so, -- you numbah one now, we numbah one soon." It was a relief to get out into the country areas.

At NIKKO we visited the Ta-shogu Shrine which dominates the temple area which adorns the mountain slope. Over the doorway of the ancient stable building is the original carving of the three monkeys: "Hear no evil, See no evil, Speak no evil."

Nikko's setting is beautiful and we were fortunate to be there when autumn colored the trees orange, yellow, and red. It is a most beautiful place, and we have the desire to return some day.

THE GREAT BUDDHA

KAMAKURA is the site of the 13th century Diabutsu (Great Buddha), fashioned of separate pieces of bronze, welded together. The inside is hollow (except for the head), and one may climb stairs for a view of the city.

At KYOTO and NARA we visited many shrines, temples and palaces, and toured the beautiful resort city of ATAMI.

The lovely NIJO Castle with its "Nightengale" floors was interesting. It was built by the first Tokugawa Shogun to protect himself from his enemies. The slightest pressure on the floors makes them actually sing. The Sanjusangodo Temple houses 1,001 wooden images, covered with gold leaf, surrounding a statue of Kannon, goddess of Mercy.

One fun evening began with a sukiyaki dinner with geisha entertainment; then to the theatre where we were entertained by short performances; music, opera, flower arrangements, puppets and the lovely and gracious tea ceremony.

The chrysanthemum show at KIRAKATA was overwhelming. We expected to find the usual potted plants and flower arrangements. Instead we were treated to a rare sight: Each exhibit was a Japanese scene with life-sized figures.

The buildings, clothing of the people, animals and other objects were fashioned of freshly cut chrysanthemum blossoms in various sizes and colors. The show was to last a month. Wilted blossoms had to be replaced often with fresh ones.

In HONG KONG you can be transported in just a moment from a modern, high-rise city to the narrow, smelly, colorful streets of Old China, or to the rural peace of Old China..... from fabulous riches to utter squalor.

In old Hong Kong (The Ladder Street area) you find the narrow streets lined with small shops built of bits of wood, cardboard, tin, or whatever might be available. Chinese cooking and Chinese dress; and above the shops rise the old, several storied, disintegrating buildings, propped up with bamboo poles. The people cook and eat on the streets.

Here and there, you will see a chicken tethered by one leg, a Chinaman carrying his merchandise in a basket suspended from either end of a bamboo pole that rests across his shoulder, laundry waving from the pane-less windows or from the bamboo poles suspended above the street.

Our ship was anchored at KOWLOON on the China mainland, across the harbor from Victoria Island (Hong Kong). We drove from Kowloon to the New Territories, a section of China leased to the British by the Chinese in 1898 for a period of 99 years.

Much of the area is now occupied by refugees from Red China who have swelled the population from 750,000 to nearly 4,000,000 during the last decade.

At one place during our tour we stopped at the gate and check-point leading into Red China territory. The division line is carefully guarded and edged with barbed wire.

A FAIRYLAND

At night, viewed from the top of Victoria Mountain, Kowloon and Hong Kong are a fairyland of millions of colored lights... breathtaking!

One can buy jewels, clothing, camera equipment and many other things in Hong Kong for much less than the States, but, "Let the buyer beware!"

One passenger on the ship, when asked how she was doing, replied, "Boy! I'm going broke saving money!"

SINGAPORE is another progressive city with the typical high-rise office and apartment buildings, many completed and many more under construction.

We visited Hau Par Villa, residence of the late "Tiger Balm" (patent medicine) King and the site of an exclusive exhibit of ancient Chinese jade and curios.

The Botanical Gardens displayed many beautiful orchids and darling tiny Malayan monkeys.

We drove across the causeway from Singapore to Jahore where we visited the beautiful Sultan's Mosque and then drove through the grounds of the Sultan's Palace.

CEYLON is a beautiful, green lush island, dense jungle, open meadows, rivers, sparkling streams and waterfalls, lofty mountains, and mountain lakes, rice fields, tea plantations, and ancient cities.

Many of the ship's passengers had planned a trip to KANDY (round trip approximately 160 miles). But the ship was late docking at COLOMBO. In order to get us to Kandy and back to Colombo in time to shove off, all trains were stopped on sidings so we could have a clear track and no stops or delay. Imagine being able to do this here in the U.S.A.!

Kandy is high in Ceylon's mountains. It is the island's center of Buddhism. Its most unusual attraction is the octagonal Temple of the Tooth, an important Buddhist Shrine, and goal of pilgrims from all over the East, dating from the fourteenth century.

The Temple vault protects a tooth said to have been rescued from Gautama's (Buddha) funeral pyre. After dinner at Kandy, we were entertained by Ceylonese dancing, prior to a moonlight train ride back to Colombo.

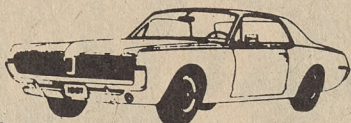

EAST MEETS WEST

INDIA: BOMBAY, the "Gateway to India," offers a cosmopolitan, exciting atmosphere and is typical of kaleidoscopic India, an amazing country that presents a constant contrast between East and West, ancient and modern, the primitive and the sophisticated.

The ship was docked here five days. We left the ship for a two hour flight to Delhi, the beginning of a three day tour, one of the most memorable of our trip. I love ancient history and had no trouble in finding reminders everywhere. Beautiful pearl mosques, forts, temples, palaces, cenotaphs, and deserted cities.

The Taj Mahal, completed near Agra in 1653 is a glorious and awe-inspiring sight, especially at sunrise and by moonlight. It is one of the "Wonders of the World." A monument of love, it was erected by the Shah Jahan as a memorial to and a tomb for his favorite queen, Mumtaz Mahal.

AMBER is a deserted city in a hidden gorge of Kale Kho Mountains, and we had a thrilling ride on an elephant to the hillside palace. The city was started in 1600 and is an architectural masterpiece of perfect proportions.

JAIPUR is the "Pink City," well named, because all of the old buildings were built of pink stone. Here we visited the famed Palace of the Winds, a high expansive pink facade containing row on row of windows.

THE DESERTED CITY

I believe FATEHPUR SIKRI, a deserted city, six miles in circumference, was my favorite of all the deserted cities and forts. It is built of red stone. Massive pillars, carved with intricate designs, are spectacular, especially an octagonal pillar in one of the buildings.

All archways and walls throughout the city are carved with intricate designs, or painted with elaborate murals or designs, mirrored, or bejeweled. (The precious stones, of course, have been stolen over the years.) The carved stone and marble screens are remarkable. The slabs of stone or marble carved completely through to form a fine mesh screen of intricate and beautiful design.

One notable example is in a marble edifice in Akbar's Palace at Fatehpur Sikri.

Beautiful marble screens completely enclose the verandah that encircles the building. One could not help but think of the unending hours of slave labor involved in the building of this great city — and the deaths. Even now time and death do not seem to have much meaning in India.

Fatehpur Sikri was founded in 1569 and completed in 1574.

It was occupied only about fifty years.....deserted because of lack of water.

INDIA is truly a wondrous country of many faces. The fabulously rich to the destitute, the latter are born, eat, sleep, and die on the street. In fact, even now, about dawn, one can see wagons making the rounds picking up the dead.

The Indian Government is building high-rise apartments, introducing birth-control, and discouraging begging in an attempt to help the appalling conditions.

MOMBASSA, KENYA, (EAST AFRICA) AND DURBAN (SOUTH AFRICA), were a delight for us. We went on a camera safari out of each port and saw animals in their wild state that heretofore we had seen only in zoos or in pictures.

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA, is a very modern, large and beautiful city. We toured the Cape, and among many things of interest were the hospital where the first heart transplant operation was performed. Also Cape Point (Cape of Good Hope area), the southernmost tip of Africa where the Indian and Atlantic oceans meet.

CHRISTMAS IN RIO

At RIO de JANIRO we spent December 24 and December 25. Christmas morning we drove up into the mountains to the foot of the Christ the Savior monument, erected on Corcovado Mountain. It was inaugurated the 12th of October, 1931. It took five years to construct and cost about $250,000 to build. Money was obtained through contributions from the people.

There were many steps to climb from the parking lot to the statue for the midnight Christmas services. The height of the monument is 120 feet. The height of the statue is 99 feet and the weight, 1,145 tons. The statue is constructed of stone sections which were transported up the 2,400 foot mountain and then assembled.

We shall never forget that Christmas because on Christmas morning the statue seemed to have a very special meaning to us.

BAHIA, BRAZIL; KINGSTON, JAMAICA; CARTAGENA, COLOMBIA; PORT OF SPAIN, TRINIDAD, were interesting and picturesque.

The steelband orchestra originated at Trinidad. The instruments are sections of discarded oil or gasoline drums. The sections cut to varying depths and the tops dented in such a manner that when beat with drum sticks, pleasing and exciting music is produced. It is particularly adapted to calypso and cha-cha rhythm. One of these bands played us into port, performed on the ship with appropriate dancing (including the limbo) and played us out of port.

We cruised to NASSAU, BAHAMAS, instead of Port Everglades, Florida because of the dock strike. We visited historical sites and colorful markets at Nassau, toured the beautiful tropical area and saw the trained flamingos perform in formations such as executed by a platoon of soldiers.

We were fortunate in being able to navigate the Panama Canal during daylight on a particularly sunny and clear day, entering the Canal at Cristobal, C.Z. and exiting at Balboa, C.Z. It was good to see the Stars and Stripes beckoning here and there. The Canal Zone was the most fascinating part of our cruise.

ACAPULCO, MEXICO, is a beautiful modern resort city. We had a beautiful and fun tour there. Of course we saw the famous divers dive from the high cliffs into the seething treacherous waters of Quebrada, far below. The balcony of one of the many luxury hotels, El Mirador, was an excellent place from which to view this.

ONLY BAD WEATHER AT HOME

We sailed into LOS ANGELES and back into SAN FRANCISCO in quite a storm (quite a contrast to our departure.....and believe it or not this is the only really bad weather we encountered on the trip!)

Elva and Lyn Dickie of the Valley's Country Club Drive, who took us to San Francisco for our departure and who helped to make our Bon Voyage party one to remember, were waiting for us in San Francisco on our return and brought us home to the Peninsula.

To single out any one place as being the most enjoyable would not be possible. Each had its own thing.

The ship itself, was a particular joy. It was just like a small city. About the only things we didn't experience aboard were a death, a murder, a birth (average age was 62!), a traffic hangup, or a hijack to Cuba.

There were no marriages either, but a few romances were started and seemed headed in that direction!

Entertainment was planned so that a person could be busy every moment or one could just lock his state-room door and rest all day long if he desired.

Some of the activities were a daily dance class, dancing every evening to live music, swimming, shuffle board, bridge, golf practice, tennis, table tennis, volleyball, calisthenics, and various games.

There were many parties: crazy hat, costume, bingo, nights in Las Vegas and Monte Carlo. Also parties given by the Captain and individuals. Movies were shown almost every night. There were vaudeville acts with passenger participation.

The food was excellent (out of this world!) and the service left nothing to be desired.

There were church services every Sunday and Mass every morning.

Highlights of the activity aboard ship were the Christmas and New Year parties. Nothing was left undone in an effort to fill the vacant spot in each heart caused by being away from home and family on these particular days, many of us for the first time.

Also on the cruise from this area was F.R. Shumaker of Pacific Grove and Mrs. Olney Girard of Carmel."

Members of the Fidelity Club are looking forward to seeing pictures of the Ollasons' world cruise and hearing their experiences in the near future. WELCOME HOME!

EDGAR HABER (left) and A.G. Michaud exchange golf hats to mark the agreement which entitles guests of Del Monte Lodge and Quail Lodge reciprocity at both the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club and Del Monte Properties Company golf, beach and tennis facilities. Members of the Carmel Valley and Del Monte private clubs will enjoy the same privileges.

To exchange privileges

Creation of what amounts to the largest golf-hotel complex in the United States was achieved last week with the announcement that Del Monte Lodge and the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club have opened all their facilities to guests and club members of either resort.

Under an agreement concluded by A.G. Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties Company and Edgar Haber, president of Green Meadows, Inc. (owners of Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club and Quail Lodge), Del Monte and Quail Lodge guests can play Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and the Carmel Valley golf courses at privileged rates.

The use of facilities agreement includes tennis courts, swimming pools, clubhouse dining rooms, the equestrian center and the Beach and Tennis Club. (With this reciprocity, members and guests of either establishment will enjoy the best of two climates—the beauty and brisk winds of a seaside resort, and the sun and warm temperatures which characterize Carmel Valley much of the year.)

The two Monterey area resorts operate the only lodges with private golf courses on the Monterey Peninsula. This, and the reciprocal privileges of each, will be the theme for an advertising and real estate program keyed to the summer season.

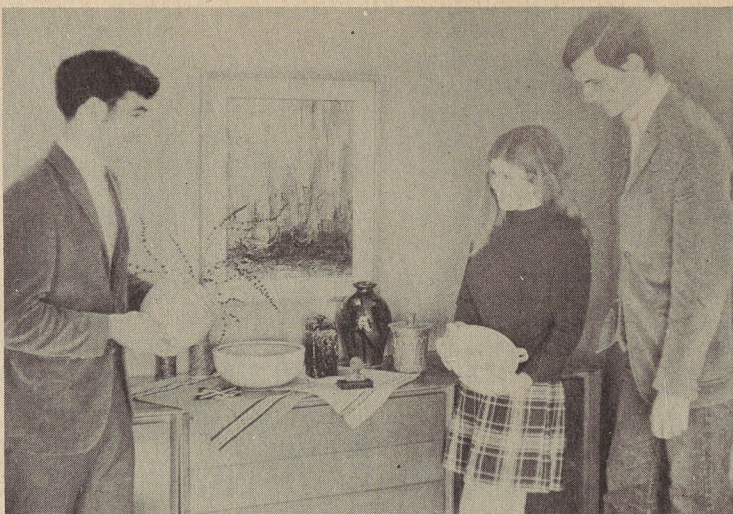

The agreement marks another milestone in the growth of each resort. Del Monte Lodge, world famous as a playground for the wealthy, will add another 48 units within the next year, while Quail Lodge, Arnold Palmer's Crosby headquarters, is doubling its present capacity to 96 units.

Combining interests was a natural step for the companies. Michaud has been largely responsible for the growth of Del Monte Properties in recent years. Haber, a former San Franciscan, has been the dynamic force behind Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club and Quail Lodge's success.

Both men are strong exponents of land conservation, following the green belt principle initiated by Del Monte Properties' Chairman of the Board, S.F.B. Morse. Their approach to residential development favors the cluster concept, leaving most of the available land relatively undisturbed.

In making the announcement, it was stressed that the agreement in no way involved a financial or administrative merger.

CVPOA considers revision of Master Plan

Updating of the Carmel Valley Master Plan was the principal item on the agenda when the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association met last week at the Carmel Valley Community Center.

The revision of the Plan has been recommended by Willard Branson, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors. Anders Larsen gave a review of the history of the plan before the unusually large turnout.

An informal discussion which followed an opposition to the break down of the one-acre building site minimum was strongly opposed. It was felt that a slope density formula should be written into the Valley Master Plan in the face of the fact that the county continues to oppose adoption of a formula unless it is county wide.

Plans for flood control and water conservation were touched upon in the discussion and it was felt that every attempt should be made to preserve the river as an attractive area.

Roy Kaminske, president of the CVPOA, will name a committee to have ready specific recommendations for change in the plan to present at the next directors meeting set for April 17.

A committee will also be named by the president to study the zoning matters in county government so that there will be on file a guide for the yearly in-coming directors to follow.

Further study will be given to a proposed 2-1/2 acre minimum building site for future subdivisions not already zoned for one acre in connection with suggested revisions to the Master Plan.

School fair aids student programs

A Bargain Fair sponsored by the Carmel High School Scholarship Fund and the American Field Service will be held in the Carmel High School gymnasium Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth Jones.

The arts and crafts department, headed by Mrs. Don Harrison, will have oil paintings, drawings and pottery by local artists, and beautiful crafts by talented people, including a painting by Danny Garcia and a mobile by Jennifer Lovejoy. Some of the pottery is donated by Marzie of Carmel Valley and Dave Lawson, a teacher at Carmel High School.

The garden section has plants, clippings and artistic driftwood. Mrs. Tor Spindler, chairman of this department, reports that there will be a number of rare cymbidium orchid plants on sale, donated by a local horticulturist.

A bake sale counter, with Mrs. Richard Sippel in charge, will feature homemade breads, rolls, cakes and cookies.

There will be a "New Items" division, with articles donated by many local Merchants, and a large section of the Gym will have near new and used clothing, shoes, jewelry, books and furniture.

One of the highlights of the day will be at 3 p.m. when a 1955 Bel Aire Chevrolet in excellent condition, donated by Beattie Motors, will be given away.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gumbrell will be in charge of the Snack Bar which will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., serving hot dogs, cake, coffee and coke.

All proceeds from the entire sale, will help support the Carmel High School Scholarship Fund and the Foreign Student Exchange Program.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Kiwanis

Letters of thanks from three leading citizens were read by President George M. Clifford at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club at Rippling River Resort.

U.S. Senator George Murphy, Assemblyman Alan Pattee and Supervisor Willard Branson wrote members of the local organization for their letter on "Campus Disorder".

It was announced at the meeting that a golf tournament will be held for Division 24 at the Pajaro Golf Club at Watsonville, March 24.

Cdr. Peter Tatro of the Naval Post Graduate School will speak on Oceanography at the Tuesday meeting.

Gem & Mineral Society

Walter Reinhardt, of the Allied Arts Guild in Menlo Park, will address the Carmel Valley Gem & Mineral Society at its regular monthly meeting on Friday, March 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the Carmel High School's Brey Hall.

The Reinhardts, who are frequent visitors to the Peninsula, are well known for their interesting and informative programs on various phases of the lapidary arts.

This month's program will feature jade carving, and Mr. Reinhardt will bring an exhibit from his fine collection. After the program refreshments will be served. Visitors are welcome, and for further information, call the program chairman, Mrs. R.A. Mullnix at 624-2339.

Stamp Club

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will meet Monday evening, March 17 at 8 o'clock in the faculty room at the Carmel High School.

R.G. Hughes, an expert on Far Eastern philately, will speak on forgeries.

All interested stamp collectors are invited to attend.

Carmel Women's Club

Spring fashions modeled by club members will be shown at a "Spring Tea" party dessert of the Carmel Women's Club, Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the clubhouse.

An invitation is extended to the public by Miss Marion Eley, chairman of the event. Reservations may be made by calling 624-8117.

Bridge and canasta may be played by those wishing to remain at the conclusion of the fashion show.

Lions Club

The Carmel Valley Lions Club heard an interesting program at its meeting last Thursday.

Harry Conley has mastered the technique of an ancient method of art of cloth painting called Batik. It is now practiced in Indonesia.

This form of art is some 2,000 years old. Conley is recognized as a master of this art and his work is imaginative and original, and duplication is impossible. The technique is tedious and exacting.

Conley was a guest of Jack Black.

Bach Festival

Ten days of concerts, lectures and recitals have been scheduled for 1969 Bach Festival to be held in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium and neighboring churches it was announced this week.

The 32nd season to be held July 18-27, includes the presentation of J.S. Bach's complete Passion according to St. Matthew twice during the festival, a performance of Henry Purcell's Fairy Queen, and a performance of J.S. Bach's Trauer-Ode.

The traditional late evening concert at the Carmel Mission Basilica will be performed on Wednesday, July 23, at 10 p.m. and will feature canticles of three centuries honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Brochures for the Festival are available from the Carmel Bach Festival, Box 503, Carmel, 93921.

List Your Lot With Lois-- The Reason? It's The Season

IT HAS BECOME TRADITIONAL FOR REAL ESTATE BY THE SEA to publish each year a collection of interesting building sites. We choose the springtime for many reasons - because human beings, like the birds, think of building new nests in the spring. Also, Spring is truly a time of new beginnings, a good time to plan for a new home, especially in this area which is so lovely at this season.

IF YOU HAVE CONSIDERED SELLING YOUR LOT, we would be happy to give it maximum exposure by including it with this year's collection. Building costs are going up. Money is still tight and interest rates are high on construction loans. Perhaps you need our professional help in this kind of market to find your buyer.

WE FEEL FORTUNATE THAT OUR PARTICULAR CLIENTELE is not so much affected by these factors as the average. Our buyers often pay cash for their lots and can build without dependence upon maximum financing.

WE WILL BE HAPPY TO SEND YOU A COPY OF OUR 1968 BROCHURE and to discuss the market value of your property. We go to press March 20, so call us soon.

Rainfall lessens; temperatures low

Only a trace of rain last week added to the total of the year, with .43 inch of rain and hail falling in Carmel Valley Sunday evening.

The season's total now stands at 28.04 inches as compared to last year's 8.47 inches.

The temperature high for the week was 58 degrees on Wednesday, March 5, with a low recorded Monday of 33 degrees.

Carmel High girl in semi-finals of PG&E competition

Douglas Jane Forbes of Carmel High School has been selected as a semi-finalist in the Coast Valleys Division of PG&E's College Scholarship competition.

Out of 3000 students entered in the competition, 25 of the highest ranking candidates were selected as quarter-finalists for each scholarship. From these, 10 semi-finalists were selected for each of the 16 scholarships.

The $4,000 scholarships are awarded for outstanding scholastic achievement. Each scholarship amounts to $1,000 for a four year course at any college the student chooses.

Miss Forbes and the other semi-finalists were chosen on the basis of Scholastic Aptitude Test scores determined by Educational Testing Service and high school achievement.

The final selection of winners will be made by means of a panel interview with a committee appointed by PG&E.

Tryouts to be held for 'Born Yesterday'

Bob Evans, Jr., has announced the audition dates for his theatre-restaurant's next production.

Tryouts for "Born Yesterday" will be held Sunday, March 23, at 2:00 p.m. and again Monday, March 24, at 7:00 p.m., at the Studio Restaurant, DeLores Street, Carmel.

Prior theatrical experience is not a necessary prerequisite for an audition.

"St. Stephen's Cathedral in Vienna" From Philip Walker's "Tales Of The Blue Danube"

'The Blue Danube' on film

The Explorers Club of San Francisco has announced the next program of their current Explorerama series of professionally produced travel and adventure films.

"The Blue Danube", a 2-hour color film will be narrated in person by its producer, National Geographic photographer Philip Walker at 8:15 p.m., Saturday (March 22) at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel.

The film includes footage taken in West Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Rumania. It is primarily a story of people. Walker shows the Danube River as it flows through these countries. Along its route he photographs the people in the villages and major cities that the river runs through.

Features in the film are the cities of Vienna, Regensburg, Budapest, Bucharest, Sofia, Bratislava, and Belgrade. The footage taken in Czechoslovakia was taken just prior to the Soviet invasion of that country.

Reserved seat tickets are now available at Central Box Office in Carmel, phone 624-6739.

JOSEPH DAY

Private funeral services were held last week for Joseph Day, a resident of Carmel Valley Manor for the past five years, in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove.

A native of Fresno, he lived in Menlo Park before retirement in 1948. He was former mayor and former chief of police of that city.

With his wife, Florence L. Day, his sole survivor, he made his home in Palo Alto before coming to Carmel Valley. He was president of Little House, a senior citizen organization in Palo Alto, and belonged to Palo Alto Lodge 346, F&AM, and the High Twelve Club of Carmel.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Joseph Day may do so to the Carmel Foundation, P.O. Box 3424, Carmel.

Gallery to host studio party

The Aardvark, Carmel Valley's newest art gallery and artists' supply shop, will host a special studio party this weekend for residents of the Carmel Valley Manor, Hacienda Carmel, and Del Mesa Carmel.

The party, to which all residents of the Valley's adult communities have been invited, will be held Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 6:00 p.m. at The Aardvark Gallery, No. 20, Bernadelli Square, in the Carmel Valley Village Shopping Center.

The Gallery is featuring the watercolors of Carmel artist George Downs.

Greeting guests at the studio party, in addition to the artist, Mr. Downs, will be co-owners, Del Neel, Bill Samuel, and Donn Squire.
